Food for Thought

5 minutes per day they are exposed to 282,000 words per year
20 minutes per day -1,800,000 words

Just after Mothers’ Day, falls the Feast day of Our Lady of Fatima and International Day of Families. These three celebratory occasions recognize the gift of motherhood, the special relationship that we have with Mary, mother of Jesus and, the fundamental importance of the family as the basic unit of community.

In the northern hemisphere, May is the final month of Spring. It is time for maypoles, May balls and May Days. The common themes are nurturing and growth – both physical and spiritual.

Having homes and families, however they may be constituted, which provide love and care for children are the building blocks of society. We do this in so many ways and it is so, so important that we, as parents and carers, model what we want for our children. If we want our children to be generous, patient, kind, resilient, self-aware, compassionate, courageous, curious, disciplined, faithful, honest, affectionate, respectful, then they have to be taught – by us. The values we want for them are learned from infancy.

There is more than enough dysfunction in our world. Our world needs peacemakers, thinkers and workers who care so much for humanity that their selflessness will change our world one bit at a time. The gift of Gratitude continues to present itself, if we are able to be open to see it. This week I am Grateful for:

✔️ Gavin, the family friend of Jett and Amber, who helped organised the fantastic opportunity with the Hawks that was so prominent in the Examiner yesterday.
✔️ Grateful for our students who responded so positively and with genuine excitement when this was announced at a special Assembly yesterday.
✔️ Our great staff, who knowing this was happening for several days were also genuinely excited for Jett and Amber.
✔️ The country and state that we live in is free from the Civil War and torment that is currently being experienced in many parts of the world, with particular thought to the school girls in Nigeria that are abducted based on fundamental religious beliefs.

You and I, as parents, have this potential in our grip if we live and breathe the values we assert are so important. The Feast day of Our Lady of Fatima reminds us of our children’s preciousness and that they too may be privileged recipients of grace and revelation.
To clarify expectations for wearing of the new Boys shirt with the winter uniform. The long sleeved winter shirt is designed to be worn tucked in. The short sleeve summer shirt is designed to be sitting out.

School expectations for the wearing of the uniform will be as follows:

- When wearing the Winter Uniform boys need to have their shirt tucked in during class time, arriving to school and leaving at the end of the day. This applies when wearing shorts or trousers.
- The expectations for summer uniform will remain the same as they were in Term 1.

The reality is having the shirts tucked out with wearing trousers, shorts and a tie in appearance does not reflect the expectations we have of wearing the uniform with pride and the community at large seeing this.

This year we are going to trial a new venue for the P-2 Cross Country Carnival. More information will come out next week however some general information about the carnival:

- Parents can walk with the grades from school or meet us at Royal Park.
- Parents can take children home from Royal Park after the last race (Grade 2 boys). Please alert the class teacher on the day if you will be taking your child home.
- This year we will have House Points (The top 5 runners will be awarded points: 10, 8, 6, 4, 2).
- Students can wear their house colours (coloured polo tops if they have them).
- A letter with information about the carnival will go home to parents late this week or early next week.

Music, Medicine and Motherhood:
Uncovering the Experiences of Women with Postnatal Depression in Rural Tasmania

Postnatal depression (PND) is a depressive condition experienced by a mother after the birth of a baby. PND is experienced by 10%-25% of women who have given birth.

The University Department of Rural Health at the University of Tasmania is conducting research in the North and North-West regions of Tasmania in order to find out:
* what services are available, known and used by women with PND;
* how women view PND; and
* what role does music have in easing PND symptoms.

If you are a woman, 18 years or older, who has experienced, or are currently suffering with PND and would like the opportunity to share your experiences in a one-to-one interview or for more information please contact us.

Nationally Consistent Collection of Data
School Students with Disability

Information for Parents/Carers

All Australian governments have agreed to work together to implement a new annual national data collection on school students with disability. This data collection process is being phased in over a three year period from 2013-2015.

The first two years will be a transition period. This means that all schools will begin preparing for participating in the collection from 2013.

In 2015, the first full national collection of data on school students with disability will take place in all Australian schools. From then on, the data collection will occur in every school every year, along with other school data collections.

WHY INTRODUCE A NATIONAL COLLECTION OF DATA ON SCHOOL STUDENTS WITH DISABILITY?

All Australian governments agree that every child in an Australian school, regardless of his or her circumstances, has the right to a high quality and inclusive education that meets his or her needs.

Better information about school students with disability will assist teachers, principals and education authorities to support their participation in schooling on the same basis as students without disability.

HOW WILL IT BENEFIT MY CHILD?

There are students with disability in every school in Australia at some point. This means that every school needs to be ready and able to support students with disability to ensure that any obstacles to participation and achievement in their school education are identified and minimised.

This new national data collection will reinforce the actions required of schools under the national Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability Standards for Education 2005. These laws mean that schools and education systems are required to make, where needed, reasonable adjustments for students with disability.

An adjustment is a measure or action taken to assist a student with disability to participate in education on the same basis as other students. Adjustments can be made across the whole school setting, in the classroom and at the individual level.

Determining the level and type of support needed for an individual student is not a new activity for Australian schools.

Currently there is only limited and inconsistent information available at a national level about school students with disability, their educational needs and the support provided to them.

The information provided by this new national data collection will enable all Australian governments to better target support and resources. That will assist students with disability in government and non-government schools across Australia to complete school and go on to further education or find employment.
WHAT INFORMATION WILL BE COLLECTED?
The following information will be collected annually at the school level:
• the level of adjustment provided;
• the number of students receiving each level of adjustment to enable them to participate in education on the same basis as other students; and
• where known, the student’s type of disability.

WHO WILL COLLECT MY CHILD’S INFORMATION AND HOW WILL THEY DO IT?
School teams will collect evidence based on:
• consultation with parents/careers;
• their observations and professional judgements; and
• any medical diagnosis.
The evidence will be collected over at least a 10 week period. This evidence will help the school teams to determine:
• which students to include in the data collection;
• the levels of adjustment that are provided, both within and outside the classroom; and
• the broad category of disability.
In line with good teaching practice and the requirements of the Disability Standards for Education 2005, you will continue to be provided with opportunities to discuss ways to assist your child overcome barriers and the adjustments that could be made to support your child.
Principals and school teams will be supported with training to assist them to make accurate judgements.
School principals will assure the accuracy of information collected about each student.

WHICH SCHOOLS AND STUDENTS WILL BE INCLUDED?
Your child’s school principal will be advised about their school’s involvement and when the school will be participating in recording information for the data collection.
A student will only be included in the data collection if he/she meets the definition of disability under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the school has evidence of this.

CAN I WITHDRAW MY CHILD’S INFORMATION FROM BEING INCLUDED IN THE NATIONAL REPORTING ACTIVITY?
You decide whether you want your child’s information to be included or not in the national reporting activity. Your school principal will forward information to you once they are participating so you can make an informed choice.

HOW WILL MY CHILD’S PRIVACY BE PROTECTED?
Protecting the privacy and confidentiality of all children and their families is a key priority.
Authorised staff in each school will manage the information to ensure that personal or confidential information is not disclosed.
Transmission of data by the school will be done in such a way that the privacy and confidentiality of all students is protected.
When data are reported it will be at the school level only and no individual student will be able to be identified in the data collection.

WHAT WILL THE INFORMATION BE USED FOR?
It is intended that the data collected about students with disability will be published on the My School website and in other national reports on schooling from 2016 onwards.
Public reporting of these data will mean more is known about how all Australian schools and education authorities support students with disability.
Australian schools and education authorities will use these data as evidence to improve their support for students with disability.
